News Ulgest. The Kentucky Democratic State Conven tion has chosen delegates favorable to the nomination of Guthrie for the Presidency. An extensive nail factory, at Duncauan, Pa., was destroyed by fire Monday night. Three hundred persons are thrown out of employment thereby.

The anniversary of the battle of New Orlesns was appropriately celebrated at New Orleans on Monday. The failure of Rurus K. Stnong, a wholesale grocer in New York city, is announced. Listilities $500,000. THE CHICAGO TIMES, in noticing the account of the man Boddy, the defaulter, takes the ural abilities on that "great ferry." Hear him:

He, the easilier of this great ferry line, receives the enormous sum of $40 a month. Forty dultura!—
Think of it, all ye fits Incumbents of railroad offices, and trembe at the apparition of such economy is salary. From Boddy!. Thou art another victim of the wadon of cheap employment. And if a general speciment of the wateries paid on that line, we will not wonder that the ferry is stopped, and the stemuled Milwankee ploughing her desolute way to the recuperating numbers of Doolitie's dockyard. this venom has been spit for nothing.

MRS. SWISSHELM describes a fire in St. Cloud graphically. The house was burning, when some one remembered there was canister of powder in a trunk in a back room, just over where the fire was burning most "He reminded McKervar of the fact, when Mc. rushed in seized the trunk, which was all on fire, and passed it through a window to TAYLOR, who tore open the lid; the clothes were all on fire around the canister, and when he got hold of it it was hot, ter, and when he got hold of it it was hot, but he hurled it safely into a snow bank and care on the part of our wives and daughters, should make it a matter of religious obligation on the part of parents and husbands to next morning, and found a hole in it, through which a hat could easily have been passed, and every article of clothing in it was burned so that only shreds were left-and yet the powder canister was taken out. The house on fire was not valuable, being a balloon frame."

is very affecting. A miserable family, a father, mother, and three children were found by an officer in a wretched shanty, on Sun- ters with machines for half price, at their day night, suffering for the lack of every necessity of life, whisky included. They had not got out of the latter while anything remained that a pawn-broker would give storage to. When found, the parents were both drunk on the floor, the wild eyed, shivering in this city; and, at the same time, to induce children huddled together on a few rags, all our friends to secure the advantages of so good a machine.—Christian Advocate & Jour. their only bed, a broken stove had long since gone off in a desperate chill, the bottle was empty. Will not Support a Lecompton Democrat. Washinoron, Jan. 10—3 P. M.
The American members of Congress, in caucus last evening, decided that they could not support a Lecompton Democrat, without stultifying themselves.

New York, Jan. 9.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.
The Herald correspondent says the Americans have caucussed to night, and reviewing their course, decided that they could never embrace the Lecompton Democracy without degrading and stulltlying the party. It is stated that Mr. Davis, of Indiana, who nominated Mr. Hamilton, says he is disjusted at the manner in which they treated his candidate, and he says he will vote for Advan to-morrow. Adriau to morrow.

Horace F. Clark is making an effort to unite the Administration and South Americans on Mr. Etheridge of Tennessee, but his success is doubtful. The Democrats have success is doubtill. The Demokrats have given up all hopes of concentrating the three parties upon a candidate in opposition to Mr. Sherman. They will, in a day or two, present a new man. They will continue the changes until they have exhausted all their available candidates.

Washington, Jan. 10-9 P. M. House.—Mr. Gartrell said that no blame could be attached to the democrats for nonocuid be attached to the democrats for hon-organization. The scenes enacted here are, but the beginning of the "irrepressible con-flict" of which they heard so much; a con-flict between opposing forces; a conflict be-tween the North and South. If war is to be tween the North and South. If war is to be waged on fifteen States of this Union; if they are to be denied the solemn guarantees of the Constitution; if the property of the South is to be taken and surrender refused; if the principles of the Republican party are still to be maintained and their purposes accomplished in the South, by congressional or other contrivances, or by unfriendly legislation to be deprived of full participation in the common territories of the U.S., he, for one, was free to confess that the House had better not be organized; if you, Republicans, he said, are determined to continue your aggressious, as you propose to do on our rights, gressions, as you propose to do on our rights; if you will not stay your hands; if you are determined that this conflict shall come, then I warn you, and those whom you represent to beware of the dangerous ground on which you stand; they (the South) must have their full measure of Constitutional rights.

They will enforce the demand to be treated as political equals, otherwise the Union will be dissolved into as many parts as there are be dissolved into as many parts as there are stars on the national banner.

He proceeded to show what rights the Southern people enjoy as to slavery; second, that these rights, so dear, sacred and high, are not only threatened, but boddly, daringly and willingly assailed by the Republican party. He would announce the solemn-truth, disagreeable as it might be to his constituents and many others, that if this aggression continues, the people of the South will be compelled by every principle of justice, homor and self-preservation, to disrupt every tie of Union, peacefully if they can, forcibly if

Mr. Haskin wished to know if that is to be inserted as a new plank in the Charleston Convention.

Mr. Gastrell replied, that if you want to Mr. Gastrell replied, that if you want to know what we'll do, you can make your ar-rangements to be present there, provided you can come as a delegate, but if you come as a Republican we will simply rule you out.—

Republican we will simply rule you out.—
(Laughter.)
Mr. Haskin thought Mr. Gastrell's judgment upon him was unfair. He had said that he agreed with neither Republicans or Southern men as to the prevention or protection of Slavery in the Territories. He wanted to know if Mr. Gastrell did not vote for Maynard and Boteler for Speaker.
Mr. Gastrell replied that he did. He wanted no better evidence of Mr. Haskin's Republicanism than having voted for Mr. Sherpublicanism than having voted for Mr. Sher-nan. Mr. Haskin said if voting for Mr. Sher Mr. Haskin said it voting for Mr. Sherrman made hima Republican, Mr. Gastrell, on on the same principle, must be an American.

Mr. Gastrell replied that as that assertion was already exploded it was not necessary to waste the time of the country in expending further time on it. Mr. Keltt explained how it was that a man voting for the Republican it was that a man voting for the Republican nominee thereby became a Republican.

Mr. Adrian, explaining, said that the Northern Democracy were true to the Union, and would not permit it to be dissolved, if a Republican were elected. President according to the forms of the Constitution.

Mr. Hickman explained his former remarks, and said that gents seemed to congratulate themselves that there is a divided North. Will the Northern Democratio rep-

Will the Northern Democratic representatives coincide in the opinion expressed by Mr. Gartrell, that the election of a Republican President, though Constitutionall put in the Presidential chair, is to be the nut in the Prentential char, is to be the cause of secession. If this was demanded, he said there was an undivided North in favor of maintaining the Constitution at all cost and every hazard. The Union must and will be maintained.

Mr. Gastrell replied that this singing songs to the Union has been stereotyped, and the

Mr. Gastrell replied that this singing songs to the Union has been stereotyped, and the claquers in the galleries applanded them only for the sake of the spoils. You may clap while your liberties are being swept away by a sectional party. (Applause.) The gentleman from Pennsylvania had added insult to injury when he said the North had eighty millions of people, and could make more arms in ninety days than the South can buy. Mr. Hickman replied that he believed that the proper place to tredress all grievances, whether real or imaginary, was in, not outside of the Union. He thought this was especially the forim for the South.

Mr. Gastrell, in the course of his reply, said, when Mr. Hickman and his friends come to the people, they would be prepared to receive them; every plowshare would be beaten into a sword, and even the negroes would put to flight the Northern mercenaries. They sooned your interference and scour you as a belitical.

Abolitionists.

Mr. Edwards alinded to the fact that they had been five weeks voting and accomplished nothing. Two hours to day had been occu-pied by Mr. G.; he was satisfied that if they would proceed to-day it would result in an election.

Mr. Clark, of N. Y., asked Mr. Edwards whether he would, under any siroumetances, your candidate for. Speaker who entertained in his heart the sentiments of Intolerance and Proscription which were indicated in the extract read from the Helper book. Mr. Edwards replied that in a private conversation with the gentleman he might say what he would or would not do, but as a member here, would not respond to the interpretation.

Mr. Morris, of Pa., said if he had known that Mr. Sherman entertained sentiments as the Helper book inculcates, he never would liave voted for him. It was because he knew Mr. Sherman regarded with the utmost horror encouragement to servile insurrection and depricated, the disturbance of the present state of society that he voted for him. Mr. Sherman had confided in the discretion of the committee and the committee relied more on Helper than on their own discretion.—When Mr. Clark's resolution shall be withdrawn Mr. Sherman will be ready to answer frankly and express his opinion of the book.

Mr. Edwards off-red's resolution that from to-day until the election of a Speaker, the House will proceed to vote for Speaker, the House will proceed to vote for Speaker, at 1 o'clock and vote three times in succession, and if any member have the floor he shall surrender it for that purpose. (Crics of good from Republican side, and objections interspersed from the Democratic side.)

Mr. Leake during some explanations claimed that Virginia has the right to second from the Union. This he said was defensive and not aggressive. He was applauded by the southern men.

Mr. Leake wanted to know whether any man who endorsed a book counselling violence and murder was fit to be Speaker. Southern gentlemen thought this the first step towards the dissolution of the Union. Mr. Edwards condemned that resolution; that was an abstraction and therefore was predicted on abstraction.

If the community were as well informed as I am, as to the authors of the above, and the effect of its publication, I should not trouble you with the remarks I now deem it my duty to make. It has been my fortune to run counter to the interests of some reloubtable individuals, whose efforts have been directed, for years past, to obtain some position in the " municipal government" of this city; and having obtained that position, desire to use the important offices in their possession for the base purpose of gratifying their private malice, and injuring all those whom they deem now, or have been heretoore, between them and the people's pocket.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, JAN. 11, 1860

Another: Grievance for Virginia, On his return from Europe, a few days tines, Secretor Seward was received in New York, by his constituents of all parties, with a warmth and cordiality which showed their appreciation of his unbhamished character, enlightened principles and emineut public services. The Common Conneil of New York, though largely Democratic, unanimously voted him the use of their Chamber to receive such friends as might wish to call upon him; and they called by thousands. This ovation is highly distasteful to Governor Wisk's organ, the Richmond Enquirer, which thus speaks of it:

thus speaks of it:

"What means the ovation to Mr. Seward upon his setura to New York? Seward announced the "irrepressible contile?"—John Brown inaugurated it; Seward, in high position profelalment the treason the 'swert act of which John Brown, the outcast, performed; the minuter ted to Europe to await the exploin of the infinite arranged at Receivster, the actor repaired to Harper's Ferry to carry out the programme of insurrection. John Brown was hing and New York city approved the pandament; seward returns to be lionized and voted a public receiption by the government of the same city. "John Brown failed in his treason, and Ats failure makes good and proper his execution, but Saward's proposed of seconds makes thin the hero; John Brown in a felior's grave at North Elba, Wm. H. Seward in the disvertor's room of New York city. What a comment upon the failure and success of the same enterprise."

it is by such villainous misrepresentations of Senator SEWARD's views that the sham-Democratic organs, North and South, are constantly feeding the fires of sectionalism, and endeavoring to array the Slave States in a hostile attitude to the Union. At the same time and by the same process they are daily

The Free States, with cighteen votes from the Slave States, can dictate the choice of the Democratic Convention, while in the Electerat College the party must rely upon the South for its votes.

The President's Messier, or more particularly that purely of it alluding to acquiescing in, and endorsing the decision of the Supreme Court of the Butted States, dending the status of negro servitude in the Teremories, is very disasseful to the Green Ray Adaptive. It terms its "monistrous doctrine that Suvery is legal and exist throughout all the land, except where it has not actually been problifted by Congressional State legislation." The word we enclosed in branchests with problems and not the ceithor. We rather suspect that on the point at iesue between the Green Bay Advocate and the Appleton Crescent-both "Democratic authorities"-the people of Wisconsin will pronsumes in favor of the former, even at the risk of displeasing President BUCHANAK and his Southern "tail."

inhabit the Southern section, and the acts of aggression and encroachment to which it has led. The conflict commenced soon after the schnowledgment of our independence, and has gradually increased until it has arrayed the great body of the North against the South on this most vital subject. In the progress of this conflict, aggression has followed aggression, and encroachment encroachment, until they have reached a point when a regard for peace and safety will not permit us to remain longer silent. The same and safety will not permit us to remain longer silent.

to the end. DOUGLAS IN ORIO.—The Democratic State Convention which recently met at Columbus appointed four delegates from the State at large to go to Charleston, and instructed them to vote for Douglas by a vote of 242 1-2 to 94 1-2. The minority refused to make the resolution to support Douglas unanimous. The Convention had a stormy session, and much Litter feeling was evolved.

habitants of Utica had a grand gala day on Monday, when they celebrated the fifth annual Bisteddfod and Cymry of that city and vicinity. The Utica Telegraph estimates the number at from 1500 to 1800. It was designated originally a Gorsedd, which means a throne or supreme seat, where derees in bardism were conferred.

It was a triennial assembly of the bards, to preserve bardism in its purity, to contest for the pre-eminence in the art of poetry, and receive new accessions in the way of disciples into the order. They are so old, that no history whatever exists among the Welsh of their origin. In the reign of Henry the Righth and Queen Elizabeth, this ancient custom was held with great pomp. From that date to the year 1819, we have a very meagre account of them, when they were revived again.

During the last twenty-five years, mor than twenty Eisteddfodan have been held in different parts of the principality of Wales, o a splendid character, besides a great many on a smaller scale, which went far in encouraging the preservation of the ancient British literature, poetical antiquarian, sacred and moral-the encouragement of the rising genius of the natives of Wales, whatever they may be in the departments of poetry, history, and literature generally-the oultivation of pennittion singing, as well as encouraging o performers on the harp.

CARL SCHURZ IN MASSACHUSETTS.-From the latest Springfield Republican we have received, we clip the following items, showing the whereabouts of our fellow citizen. CARL SCHURZ, the nature of his labors, and the manner in which they are received and estimated:— Mr. Collins' independent course of lectures

Mr. Collins' independent course of lectures opened last evening very brilliantly, and with a well satisfied audience. The only fault a single evening well satisfied audience. The only fault a single evening. The only fault as single evening. The only fault a single evening. The contertainment was introduced by good music from Bond's Cornet band. Park Benjamin having failed to appear, his place was supplied by George E. Rice, Esq., of Boult, and nothing was introduced by good music from Bond's Cornet band. Park Benjamin having failed to appear, his place was supplied by the subject.
No hearer could have left without feeling made democracy impossible. The successes of the present Napoleon, the lecturer attribu-ted chiefly to the prestige of his great uncle's name; he was elected President because he was a Napoleon, and because the people knew nothing more about him. Mr. Schnrz's style of oratory is easy and natural, and consists chiefly in sound thought clearly and earnestly presented. We are glad that our citizens are to have an opportunity to hear him upon American politics, this evening, and we only regret that there is not a larger hall at

Mr. Schurz, who is the leader of the Gerties of deep thought and fervid eloquence.— The address to night will be free to all, and the attendance of citizens of all parties is be-spoken in his behalf.

The special train from Northampton last evening brought down 150 persons to hear Carl Schurz, and they were well repaid.

GROW AND BRANCH .- The Freeman's Journal, (Catholic and Democratic) publishes at length the correspondence between GROW and Bannen, and thus handsomely compliments the Pennsylvania Representative:

"We depart from our rule now, to express our entire commendation of the course taken by Mr. Calusha A. Grow in regard to Mr. L. O'B. Branch. These gentlemen are known to their respective friends to be men of determined physical courage, but Mr. Grow lins shown that he is equally possessed of the higher quality of moral courage. His plea is not by any means that he is a non-combatant. His answer implies that he is a thorough fighting namebut he declines violating at once the laws of the Christian religion, and the laws of his country, by accepting the barbarous and unreasonable appeal to a deliberate trial of skill at marder. Mr. Grow is a political opponent, but we must Grow is a political opponent, but we must say that, in this matter, he has entitled him-self the respect of civilized men."

A SHOT THAT TOLD .- The correspondent of the N. Y. Tribune thus speaks of Mr. POTTER'S well simed hit at Vallandingham

Mr. Vallandingham was nominated by Mr. Mr. Vallandingham was nominated by Mr. Barksdalo of Mississippi; and when Mr. Potter of Wisconsin was called, he suggested, with great gravity, as the gentleman from Ohio was somewhat mixed up with the John Brown affair, he could not vote for him, and supported John Sherman. This telling commentary on the opposition toward Mr. Sherman, convulsed the House, and extinguished Mr. Vallandingham, who received 20 votes less than the Democratic attength, and was dropped on the second hallot, withand was dropped on the second ballot, without being allowed to withdraw.

DEATH OF DR. W. RUSSELL PALMER, THE DEATH OF DR. W. RUSSELL PALMER, THE ALLEGED INSURRECTIONIST.—We to-day record the death of Dr. William Russell Palmer, whose arrest and examination for alleged conspiracy in the late attempt to incite the service pepulation of the South to revolt, is still fresh in the minds of our readers. It will be remembered that he was required to give bonds in $2,500 for his appearance at court. After his release from custody he remained in the dirty and boarded at the Plan. by the Virginia Senators, Mr. Bocock and others, which Mr. McKnight read the other day, to the great discomfiture of Mr. Pavor, who was condemning the "irrepressible conflict" doctrine:

"We, whose names are hereto annexed, address you in discharge of what we believe to be a solemn duty, on the most important subject ever presented for your consideration. We allude to the conflict between the two great sections of the Union, growing out of a difference of feeling and opinion in reference to the relations existing between the two races, the European and the African, which inhabit the Southern section, and the acts of aggression and encroachment to which it has led. The conflict commenced soon after the seknowledgment of our independence and the Argus.

Since the developments of the late trial, facts have come to light which seem to warrant many in the belief that Dr. Palmer was incent of the charge preferred, and that the letter said to be written by the underground agent, Thatoher, was in reality the production of a gentleman well known in this community, (though at present absent in the North,) who was interested somewhat in the property of Palmer's wife. Of the truth or falsity of this we have no direct knowledge to the relations existing between the two process, the European and the African, which is true colors, let the blame attach to whom it may.—Memphis Argus. mained in the city, and boarded at the Plan-

THE NEW UNFERHENTED BREAD.—There can be no doubt that the newly discovered serated bread will prove a blessing to many whose stomachs could not digest the ordinary bread raised by fermentation. It is now being regularly made and sold in London, and is eagerly sought after by a large class of peo-ple, to whom fermented bread had been pro-hibited by the doctors. The process of mak-ling the bread consists in forcing ready pre-pared carbonic acid, by means of suitable machinery into the water with which the dough Ecching Post understands that Mr. Corwins is prepared, then mixing the flour, water and salt together, in a highly condensed atmosphere. From the mixing apparatus the dough the other day, he said: "Well, _____, I have concluded upon a time when I shall the overs without being touched by the hands. By this means the consistency of the flour is left both unchanged and uncontamentary to the last the left being recognited. stop voting for Sureman; in short, when I insted-the loss being accordingly absolutely

There is absolute economy in this method of raising the bread, as it is certain that the process of fermentation destroys part of the substance of the flour; first the sugar, then the starch to furnish more sugar to be decomposed into carbonic acid gas and alcohol.

THE WELSH IN UTICA .- The Welsh in- The Irrepressible Conflict in North Carolina. From the National Era, The Raleigh (N. C.) Standard, of a recent

The Raleigh (N. C.) Standard, of a recent date, contains a iong address to the people of the State, by the "Wake County Workingmen's Association," which cannot fail to be regarded as an illustration of the "irrepressible conflict," which ever exists between Slavery and Freedom. The object of the Association is to bring about an equalization of taxation in the State, so that slave property may be compelled to bear its equal portion of the Polic Eurdens. The Constitution of the State, as it was remodeled in 1835, provides that slaves between the reges of twelve and fifty years shall be unifect to a poll or capitation tax, equal to that paid by poll or capitation tax, equal to that paid by white men; and that those over lifty and under twelve shall be entirely exempt from taxes.

According to the address of the association this leaves 187,913 slaves, worth $112,566, 800, untaxed. The 160,925 who are subject to faxation, are valued at $139,000,000, and to taxanon, are valued at $159,000,000, and the tax paid on this highly productive slave property is only $75,400, while real estate, worth $97,842,481 pays $146,150. Here then, is a striking instance of partiality to slavery. One-half of the slaves, worth fifty or seventy-live millions, at least, and estimated by the address at one hundred and twelve millions, ones untayed attention while the aillions, goes untaxed altogether, while the millions, goes untaxed attagether, white the remaining half of the slaves are taxed only half as much as the land. There are other, still greater inequalities; as, for instance, $31,980,000 money loaned, pays $76,774 taxes; or more than $245,567,800 worth of slave property. Here the discrimination in favor of slavery is in a seven-fold ratio. The Workingmen's Association demand a The Workingmen's Association demand a change in the Constitution, so that property of all kinds may be taxed upon the advatoof all kinds may be taxed upon the ad valorem principle or according to value. The present arrangement, which entirely exempts young slaves from taxes, would seem to have been designed to encourage the rearing of slaves for market; or at any rate, such is its effect. On the other hand, capital invested in manufacturing and merchandize is taxed enormously. A thousand dollars worth of land pays $1,50. A negro worth that amount, or even twelve or fifteen hundred dollars, only pays fifty cents tax; while a thousand dollars invested in manufacturing, is taxed $10. Is pays any dense as a wine a thousand tonars invested in manafacturing, is taxed $10. Is it surprising that a State which adheres to this policy is more remarkable for the num-ber of slaves it rears for market than for the amount of its manufactures? amount of its manufactures?

This is an important movement in North Carolina—important as well for the character and influence of the men engaged in it as for its object. Its movers are not obscure vision and in the reconstruction of the character and in the reconstruction. ries, but prominent and leading members of aries, but prominent and leading members of both political parties, and although the Address disclaims party purposes, it is not improbable that a new organization of parties will grow out of it. The Standard is the leading Democratic paper of the State, and the editor is ambitious of being Governor or United States Senator. We understand that United States Senator. We understand that he favors the movement; while the State Senator from Wake, a Democrat, is a prime mover in the enterprise, and probably the author of the Address. It finds favor in the Western part of the State with all parties, and is published with approbation by the Greensborough Patriot, the leading Opposition organ in that section. The Patriot says that it is satisfied from the signs of the times, that the Opposition State Convention will take ground for a change in the constitution, so as to engraft the advalorum principle of taxation upon it, at the peril of the western

Mr. Grow's Mauly Letter. Mr. Grow's letter to Mr. Branch, declining the offer to decide by single combat the difference between them, will do him honor wherever it is read. Among the barbarous customs which prevail in that part of our country where one race of men hold another in bondage, is that of going out to fight by way of bringing a quarret to conclusionusing physical means to terminate a difference of a moral nature. It is not at all surprising that, in those pisces where force is the prising that, in those places where force is the motive by which one half of the population are made to render obedience and service to the other, force should be held in such re-spect that it is called in to arbitrate in disspect that it is called in to aroutable putes, as is done among savages.

Here, in the Free States, we take a different view of the matter, and our people are educated to detest the custom of duelling as bardward to detest the custom of duelling as bardward and anti-Christian. When men of the North are sent as Representatives of the Free States to Washington, we should require them to behave as Representatives of taxation upon it, at the peril of the western members seeding, and running an indepen-

the North in all respects—that they should represent what is right in our morals as well as what is right in our politics; that they should not allow themselves to be seduced into any countvance at practices which their education and the concurrent testimony of good men of all countries and their own consciences teach them are wrong. They should not permit themselves to be barkarized by their association with any class of men whom they may find at the sent of government. Mr. Grow has held nobly to his integrity, and his firmness will need to the remaining the Air. Grow has held nobly to his integrity, and his firmness will receive the approbation of conscientious men everywhere. His manly letter to Branch has been published by his adversary, who will find himself obliged to leave the quarrel where it stands. It is just as well and just as satisfactorily concluded in this way as if the parties had had a shot at each other, and the seconds had then adjusted it.

At seems that Mr. Grow has been bound over, along with Mr. Branch, to keep the peace. What he had done to justify this proceeding on the part of the magistrate does not appear. He had uttered no mence, but only insisted on the right of self-defence in case he should be attacked; and self-defence is lawful, and will always be so, in spite of any bonds given to keep the peace. But this is the Washington mode of administering law, and Mr. Grow is a Northern man, which makes all the difference in the world. and Mr. Grow is a Northern man, which makes all the difference in the world.—N. NON INFLAMABLE FABRICS FOR LADIES GARMENTS.—It has long been known that a material of cotton or thread could be in a great measure preserved from the effects of flame by spaking in a solution of alum or common salt. The expedient is a simple one, but in practice is liable to objections which, nore than any willful disregard or careless 1988, have prevented its general employment. The fabric which is soaked in common salt secomes crisp and hard to the touch, while that which is saturated with alum is serious nat which is sentimed with artist is scribble y joingred by the process, losing its strength by reason of the action of the sait upon the fibre. The chemist was therefore called upon to discover a substitute which would exert no injurious effect upon the color, the appearance, or strongth of the material to be rendured non-inflamable. The investigation, one of considerable research and difficulty—was undertaken by Messrs. Versmann and Oppenheim, to whom the thanks of the ladies are due for a long series of experiments made in their behalf. It was found that borax exerted a powerful preservative effect; but that the combination of the chemical ingredient impaired in some degree the strength of the material operated upon. The on to discover a substitute which would exstrength of the material operated upon. The effect of more than 40 different salts was then tested in the laboratory, the Royal laundry, and various muslin factories; and a re-ager was at length discovered answering in every respect the requirements of the manu-facturer, who, it is to be observed, finishes his muslin without the application of a hot iron

But more was yet required of the chemist. The amount of the re-agent in question—viz: the phosphate,—was very considerable; and, mereover, the salt decomposes under the iron of the laundress, rendering the operation of ironing, after its employment, a matter of some difficulty. The sulphate of ammonia, a salt only one-fourth the price of the phosphate—was found advantageous to replace the latter for the purposes of the manufacturer, a similar representation action. place the latter for the purposes of the man-ufacturer, a similar preservative action being obtained with a much smaller amount of the re-agent. Both salts, however, are solumble in water, requiring renewal for washing; and both are liable to the same objection with regard to the ironing process. A substance was therefore required to answer a domestic purpose, and which, while allowing the iron to mass smoothly over the surface of the over purpose, and which, while allowing the iron to pass smoothly over the surface of the prepared material, would afford a pefect guarantee against the effects of fame, without injuring in any degree the strength or appearance of the fabria. A salt faifilling these conditions was ultimately discovered by the above mentioned chemists, in the tungsgate of sods. This salt is now in constant use in Her Majesty's laundry at Richmond; and it is to be hoped that its application may quick. Torms of the Sentinel.

As the last long, lingering echo of the midnight's mysof Time—

or time—

Leaving on the starless silence not a token nor a Louis XIV. tic chime, Lifting through the sable billows of the thither shore of Time traceIn a quivering sigh departed; from my couch in fear
I started;
Started to my feet in terror, for my dream's phantasmal error mal error Painted in the fitful fire a frightful, flendish, flaming face!

On the red hearth's reddest conice, from a blazing knoof oak, Beemed to give and grin this phantom when in terror I awoke,
And my slumberous cyclide straining, as I staggered to the floor.
Still that dread vision seeming, turned my gaze toward the gleaning Hearth, and there !—oh, God! I saw it: and from its finning jaw
Spat a cesseless, seething, hissing, bubbling, gurgling stream of gore!

struck with stony silence, frozen to the floor I stood,
Till methought my brain was hissing with that hissing, butbling blood;
Till I felt my life stream cooling, cooling from those lambers the:
Till the demon seemed to name me—then a wondrous culm came o'er ms, and my brow grew cold and dewy, with a death-damp stiff and giney.
And I felt back on an entire in the state damp and if the back on an entire in the state damp.

And I fell back on my pillow, in apparent soul-eclipse.

"How I revel on the prairied how I roar among th how I laugh when from the villages o'er the snow the And I hear the shricks of terror, with a life in every breath;
How I seronn with lambent laughter, as I hard each cracking rather Down the fell abyse of fire—until higher! higher Leap the high priests of my alter, in their merry dance of death!

I am Monarch of the Fire! I am Vassal-King of Death! World erriching, with the shadow of its doom upon my breath! With the symbol of Hereafter flaming from my fatal face!

I command the Eternal Fire! Higher! higher! higher!

I command the Eternal Fire! Higher! higher!

Leap my ministering demons, like phantasmagoric le-Hugging Universal Nature in their hideous embrace !

VIII. Then a sombre silence shut me in a solemn, shrouded And I slumbered like an infant in the "cradic of the deep," Till the beliry in the forest quivering with the matir atroke, And the martins from the edges of its Rehen-lidded beiges.
Shimmered through the rusect arches, where the light in term files marches,
Like a routel army struggling through the scried ranks of oak.

Thro'my twy-fretted casements, filtered in a tremulous note, Then I started up unbidded from my slumber, nightmare ridden, With the memory of that dire demon in my central fire, On my eye's interior mirror like the shadow of a fate i Ah! the fiendish fire had smouldered to a white and formiess heap, And no knot of oak was flaming as it flamed upon my Interpolation is very centre, where the demon face had shone, Forked shadows seemed to linger, pointing, as with spectral inger,

To a Bible, massive, golden, on a table carved and olden.

And I bowed and said, "All power is of God-of God alone!" Fumiliar Quotations.

From "Things not Generally Known." There are many phrases and quotations which are as "familiar in our mouths as household words," whose origin is either unknown or misconceived, and without ennousehold words," whose origin is either unknown or misconceived, and without encroaching upon the spere of the words devoted to this purpose, we may mention a few of them:

"There is death in the pot," is from the Bible, 2 Kings, iv., 10. "Lovely and pleasant in their lives, and in death they were not divided," is spoken of Saul and Jonathan, 2 Samuel, 1, 23. "A man after his own heart," 1 Samuel, xiii, 14. "The apple of his eyo," Deat. xix, 21. "A still small voice," 1 Kings, xix, 12. "Escaped with the skin of my teeth," Job xix, 20. "That mine adversary had written a hook," Job xxi, 35. "Spreading himself like a green lay tree," Psalm xxxvii, 35. "Hanging our harp upon the willows," Psalm xxxvii, 2. "Riches certainly make (not take, as is often quoted) themselves wings," Proverbs xxiii, 5. "Heap coals of fire upon his head." Isid xxv, 23. "No new thing under the sun," Ecclesiastesi, 9. "Of making many books there is no end," Ibid xi, 42. "Peace, peace, when there is no peace," (made famous by Patrick Henry) Jeremiah viii, 11. "My name is Legion," Mark v, 6. "He that fights nod runs away May live to fight another day."

These lines usually ascribed to Hudibras, are really much older. They are to be found in a book published in 1656. The same idea is, however, expressed in a couplet published in 1542; while one of the few fragments of Menander, the Greek writer, that have been preserved, embodies the same idea in a single line. The couplet in Hudibras is— "For those that ily may fight again, Which he can never do that's slain."

"Hell is paved with good intentions, though found in Johnson and Herbert, was obviously in their day a proverbial expres-sion. Walter Scott ascribes it to "some stern

A. M. BININGER & CO. (ESTABLISHED 1778.) SOLE IMPORTERS.

No. 335 BroadStreet, New York.

THIS DELICIOUS TONIC, ESPECIAL-Medical Profession and the Family,

Possesses those intrinsic medicinal properties, From and Directol which belong to an OLD AND PURE GIN.

The business of manufacturing spurious Gina, and offering them as becomes, under the litles, "Aromatic," 'Cordial, "Medicated," &c., has become so common that the public are justly suspicious of nearly everything that is offered under sinilar forms, and the trade has thus been brought into disrepute. It has remained for our house (established in 17t) to supply the pressing popular need, and to inaugusts a new ers in the history of the Trade. We trust that our established reputation—founded upon eighty years at experience—abundantly yindicates our claim to public confidence.
